AN ELECTORAL TRICK.

The President renominated to-day for the position of Surveyor-General of Louisiana O. H. Brewster, the incligible Hayes elector of that State. Brewster testified before the congressional committee in New Orleans, on Saturday last, that he did not denly encountered the General, with Mrs. resign the office of Surveyor-General of Jackson leaning on his arm. JUDGE CARPENTER'S CONSULTATIONS. Judge Carpenter, of South Carolina, says last spring. - Savannah News. that he does not intend to be in a hurry to decide the contesting claims of Hampton and Chamberlain to the gubernatorial office in South Carolina. He says he is spending time here to consult legal authorities which are not available in South Carolina. One of the authorities whom he seems to be consulting very frequently is the Attorney-General, whom no doubt Chamberlain would look upon as a safe guide. Judge Carpenter is the South Carolina judge who last summer, in the public saloons of Washington, denounced Governor Chamberlain in the most opprobrious terms.—1b.

WEST VIRGINIA SENATORSHIP. The senatorial election in West Virginia takes place to-morrow week. More than usual interest attaches to the election on account of the fact that two senators are to be chosen. Senator Davis, who has been at Wheeling, returned to Washington this morning, but will leave again for Wheeling to morrow. The impression is that he will be roperty to morrow. The impression is that he will be roperty to morrow. to-morrow. The impression is that he will be reelected. It is understood that nearly two thirds of the members of the Legislature are for him. The question of the removal of the State capital may, however, have the effect to complicate the senatorial question, and in some respects work to the disadvantage of Senator Davis.-1b. THE ELECTORAL COUNT-VIEWS OF MESSRS.

BURCHARD AND SKELYE.

Washington, January 15.—Representa-tive Burchard, of the select committee on the powers and privileges of the House in connection with the electoral count, has prepared a minority report in behalf of himself and Professor Seelye, which will be submitted to-morrow or Wednesday. The main point of the report will be that, in the himself and Professor Seelye, which will be submitted to-morrow or Wednesday. The main point of the report will be that, in the absence of all legislation or authoritative direction from the Senate and House, it is the clear and bouden duty of the president of the Senate to count the vote. The midirection from the Senate and House, it is the clear and bouden duty of the president of the Senate to count the vote. The minority maintain that evidence is overwhelming on this point, and that the tellers acted merely as clerks up to the time of the election of Andrew Jackson, the president of the Senate up to that time always stating in his certificate that he had himself opened.
